▼ The Benefits of Hiring

Hiring computer equipment solves a multitude of problems. In today's fast moving business world, companies demand the most powerful systems in order to maintain their competitive advantage. This necessitates considerable IT investment and often the most cost-effective option is to rent.

Renting your IT equipment presents an attractive alternative to buying in a wide range of business scenarios, including:

- Short term project requirements, to cover software development or to manage workload peaks seasonal fluctuations, including year-end audits, for use by temporary staff, or to avoid costly downtime during relocation or maintenance work
- Specific events, including presentations, exhibitions, or foreign trips
- Testing, for example, new software, or to "Try Before You Buy". Test-driving a new product is the only way to be sure you're making the right decision before making the commitment to purchase
- Training needs – renting is the flexible option when dealing with fluctuating course numbers or different training venues
- Budget constraints – the capital may not always be available for the IT equipment you need, and the purchasing procedures may be lengthy or difficult
- Renting is easier, quicker and unlike capital expenditure, items can all be set off against tax
